Dear, Crimson, Bryan and Ack

I am deeply sorry for all the trouble I may have caused. Well I guess I will start off with the first thing ACKstories I admit to creating this site and I am sorry It got out into the public it was a little joke I had with some friends but I guess someone didn't keep a secret. Well who cares doing things behind their backs is stupid right at least I think it is. Just to clear this up I don't hate ACK I just think that he's an asshole sometimes but we all are aren't we? I was a total ass to do this site wasn't I? I think so. Crimson I'm sorry I should be slapped for using your site layout you have giving so much to the community Hosting the forums ect. I thank you for that so so much. I may sound like I'm sucking up but I am truly sorry for my actions and a hope for forgiveness. I thank you for not exposing my IP address as well if I were you I probly wouldn't have been as generous as you are. And Finally to my friend Bryan the copy of your site that was not me who made that site but was a friend who supposedly made it himself but it had my name on it and was for one of my modding teams to be so I will take full responsibility of his actions it was my team. I did make a Conman forum name out of desperation to try and win back you respect which just backfired on me and I deserved it. I deserve every flame I get but I am hoping you will forgive me I say "My team my problem" don't you ? Well I hope this is enough to set us straight .
