
Subject: Re: renvis needs a new name !

Posted by Minax71 on Tue, 23 Aug 2005 13:38:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Since there is only one extra suggestion "RenHawk", I count the "Non of the above" voters, as "RenHawk" fans.

I personally like it as well; Hawks are birds with a very sharp vision. They detect anything that moves; which is basically what renvis is doing. Even literally: During the compression process of the log files, I leave out all POS(ition) lines which do not contain any new information, i.e. where the corresponding vehicle / player did not move.

So renvis sees things like a hawk does ... and the name sounds nice. Have to check if there are any naming conflicts then ... RenReplay doesnt have any, so if RenHawk is somehow used by some company in China, RenReplay is a save alternative

MfG;
ChaosE
