Just like how others can ignore this thread if they don't want to read or reply to it, you can ignore other threads or posts that are just arguments/flames/etc.

Only a small percentage of the people on this board actually do what you're accusing them of. You're acting like it's unique for there to be a lot of arguing and flaming, when in reality all (large) forums have their share of arguing/flaming, this forum is mild compared to many others.
