Now. . . I'm starting to get sick of this place with all the clawing into one another

Don't worry there are worse forums than this. Example:

<http://boards.ea.com/messages?13@@.1de8e6b4!ticket=0&dec ode=999>

(Well I think it used to be worse)

I'm surprised no one's tried just posting constant spam to raise their post count, on that note. And I mean, like, 50 spam posts a day or something.

I think that something like this happened before, but the guy was probably banned and his posts deleted, which is why you don't see that very often.

Anyway, you are right, but I don't think you should take these forums so seriously. I mean these are just forums, nothing else. If this was some kind of community of people who you could actually see in person, then there would be reason to take it very seriously. But it is not, so relax.
