I very much agree that people who don't provide help should not only lose the right to post garbage but as a result lose the privlage to post when they really do need help. I do believe a good "clusterfuck" is very nice every now and then as well as fixed, not fixed, fixed situations!

Two questions, where did the core patch section go? It's not listed in the new format. And is haveing a RG ban section a good idea? That will be a n00bified section if there ever was one. The amount of brain cells one will lose entering that section will be incredible.

oh I haven't voted yet.
