A topic about Video Games, and i havent posted in it? Somethins wrong with me. Anyway.

Yeah, the whole Adult Content freak out is gettin fuggin old. It may not have been goin on for long, but still. If im forced to stop playing Halo and Renegade, opting instead for "Counting For Teenagers," im goin on a killing spree. Dont they realize that Violent Video Games actually KEEP us from going out and killing someone? Look at what you can do in Halo, for instance:

1. Grenades. Two types. Frag Grenade, and Sticky Grenade.
2. Bash. Bash bash bash bash bash.
3. Shoot people alot. If this game is known for one thing regarding violence, its this.
4. Rocket Launcher. Enough said.
5. Flamethrower*. Outlawed for a reason to be owned in the USA.
6. Fuel Rod Gun*. Think rapid fire, weaker, Rocket Launcher.
7. Vehicular Manslaughter. You can even back up over their corpses, after youve run them down.
8. You can hump the corpses, by rapidly pressing the "Crouch" button.
9. Tank. Again, enough said.
10. You can hit someone with a Grenade, or something, but you can knock them off the edge of the arena, in certain maps.
11. You can beat up the corpses of your fallen enemies. And blow them up.
12. You can knock a vehicle into someone, onto someone, or over someone.

I submit my long-ish post to the... Er... Readers, and ask: Why are they idiots?
