Thanks for the info.

The guy claimed that I was dropping mammys on the field when we were trying a med tank rush. Well, to make a long story short, at that point in the game, I hadn't bought anything for about twenty minutes, and before that I had bought about twenty meds to help stock up for the med rush. When that failed, I just resigned myself to guard the back door. The team sucked anyway, everyone was their own hero. But I definitely wasn't buying mammys. Sounds childish to post like this, but I feel better anyways.

Thanks,
tz
