Are you two complete idiots? Do you not see a difference in our actions compared to your own? Hijacking a thread is clearly not the same as rejoicing over the death of one's beloved pet. While neither you nor I knew the cat, we can speculate that gbull thought of the cat as part of his own family. If your cat died, no matter how much of an idiot I think that you are, I would never dare to disrespect the relationship that you had with your own pet. I, personally, had my dog put down in December, and I know exactly how it feels to lose a pet. I doubt the reality of the situation can sink into your mind. Then again, it usually doesn't for 8 year olds. Grow the fuck up, kids.
