
Subject: Re: RG list

Posted by Dave Mason on Sun, 11 Sep 2005 12:16:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Crimson wrote on Sun, 11 September 2005 05:18ghost hasn't withheld information. RenGuard 1.04 will stop the exploit he knows about.

SSC_ignore.txt is designed because when you log into a server on your own LAN, your IP doesn't match the IP that RenGuard sees you using. Example, I would show up at 192.168.0.2 on my LAN, and 68.x.x.x to RenGuard. This would result in the RenGuard master servers telling BRenBot that I'm not on RenGuard. SSC_ignore.txt means that BRenBot skips checking you. It means you won't be kicked for not using it. However, if someone !rg's you, you will NOT appear on RenGuard. The ONLY ONLY way that someone is validated to be on our network is when they show up as "Crimsson is on <server name>". If you are "idle", then you are NOT validated as legit.

Well that's 5 minutes of my life plaque making that I'll never get back lol.
