

---

Subject: Re: Your Deepest Darkest Secret.

Posted by Hydra on Mon, 19 Sep 2005 23:18:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

My parents are fairly rich (not much of a secret, though, since they've just recently closed on some beachfront property in Panama City and Destin (not too long before hurricane season started... but it's all still standing! (for now at least (hmm, you think I could use more parentheses?))))). Doitle wrote on Mon, 19 September 2005 00:58I dont know how secret it is but, I really enjoy fire and explosions a lot. They are great things. I'm not a pyro really and don't get anything sexual out of it but Fire is just so gosh dang cool. In fact I always carry matches on me in my wallet just in case a fire ever needs to get going. Part of my always wanting to be ready for anything attitude. A funny aside with this though was when we went bowling one time I had a match book in my pocket but had also taken a single match out of the pack and was free in my pocket... While reaching around looking for keys in my pocket I accidentally struck the match to the strip and lit a match inside my pocket. I was like OMG WTF and everyone was laughing. It was great. That sounds like something I or one of my friends would do.

We gotta hang out.

---