The "couldn't initialize service" error is a firewall problem.

How could it be a firewall problem when I have not configured or changed my firewall in anyway before this started happening.

Also It can't be a firewall problem because right before this message comes up game.exe doesn't even become a process for a milisecond. IE it does not come on at all. Renguard needs to be able to initialize before it can try to connect.

No sorry, I was not specific. The screenshots I previded were, You were not talking about what I am talking about. I know what error you mean.

I am talking about Error: loader couldn't initialize service!
