I put svkp.sys in the exclusion list and reinstalled RenGuard, but when it goes to reinstall the core patch 1 it freezes up. Is the site down or is it because it is already on my system? I disabled core updates for now.

This sounds like a different problem than the current one, so idk...

However, the svkp.sys issue does seem to be the fault of Symantec...they should be able to scan into svkp protected files in the first place...
