probably the best way to find an sbh if you think you are being followed, and not worried about making any noise, is getting out ur pistol and spraying bullets in every direction. This has saved me many a time on maps with tunnels as I find that lots of newbs get sbh's and hang out in the tunnels, thinking that no one can see them, and if they get hit by the pistol rounds, they think it was an accident and usually wont open fire, theyl just try to follow you.

So, when in doubt and you think some one invisible is following you, fire a hail of pistol rounds every which way, and, another bonus: smart players who don't want their stealth compromised generally stay away from you if you do this, and if they have a nuke they will never open fire unless they know 100% sure they will be killed if they dont anyways, there's my 2 cents
