
Subject: Re: frozen game then disconnection
Posted by flyingfox on Mon, 31 Oct 2005 02:24:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I know this might seem obvious...but this sounds like a network problem...here comes the old question everybody has to ask...have you ran the game with your firewall turned off?

I only ask because the connection halts and renguard disconnects point right to your own network being at fault in some way or another. it might be something making use of your network, like a firewall, or your network itself. you might think that renguard disconnects are the renguard program's fault but since you also have a problem maintaining connection to game servers it's far more likely your own network protocol has trouble maintaining connection to other servers, or maintaining connection itself (staying online)..

I haven't experienced this myself but am occasionally disconnected from renguard. don't get the gameplay pending though.
