A small side project I'm working on, my version of the gdi medium tank. I really hated the one in renegade, So I decided the make my own. My next job will be texturing, I thought it would be a suitable project to help myself get better with photoshop.

After I'm done I'm going to set the model up as a replacement and relelase it to the public. It's body demension is the almost exact to the renegade medium tank, so no real advantage here, just visual.
