Yes, I am patient. I may have to resort to 1.03 if I need to, but I don't see it coming to that.

As far as the screen vs. website goes, you are correct, a blank window would still be annoying. No chance of having the GUI edited to remove that pane? (pain?)

I was aware that you use 6300 for most RG communication, I just wanted to make sure that you didn't use 80 for anything necessary.
