If you have, check this out. If you haven't, check this out. We're already well past the 20 year anniversary of the film but I still think it's a great way to pay tribute to the genius of John Carpenter and John W. Campbell, author of Who Goes There? which was the book The Thing is based off.

If you haven't seen the movie, go watch it - if you already saw it, watch it again! Horror classics never get old. It doesn't have to be Halloween or Samhain to get the shit scared out of you by creepy-ass aliens and zombies.
