As many as I feel necessary. And in case you havn't noticed, this is an American website, and suprise suprise American's speak English. I could speak 100 other languages and it'd make no difference at all to how I communicate on these forums.

Regardless of the fact that you've strayed from my point, I couldn't give any less of a fuck whether you can speak more than one language or not. My point is if you can't even type a sentence that makes sense, don't bother.
