Well one thing you really should have noted was that this is still beta form, so really that is the underline here. Our betas are all public so they can be tested at any time now by anyone.

Not much here to say for me either, though i have been really busy with this map and its taking up alot of my free time.

We are headed towards a full clean fixed up beta here in the next few weeks as i ready the area 51 base which goes on new island.
