The serial is encrypted tho, so unless they've "cracked the code" it wont do them much good if they had "bad intentions". On the other foot that is the best way to verify who ppl are since everyones will be different. I could really care less about the PW thingy tho. Like I stated I imagine they jack your encrypted serial for verification/record purposes ie go online and do bad shit using REOL and you may get a nice surprise

Thanks for the information !!
