I've also been told (personally) by [someone in your clan] that half of the #GW clan has a bunch of whiny egotistical losers that will go out of their way to put people down and a bunch of selfish players that want to dictate others schedules. And apparently the problem is so bad that many of the members have considered splitting from the clan.

Meanwhile, you have a group of individuals called RTE which takes the focus off of ego-driven individuals and competition ... and puts the spotlight on people that have proven to be honest, trustworthy, and do not need to be baby sat. We do not have a solid group of Renegade players anymore. And as for "winning a 2v4" ... any half-intelligent person that knows how this game works will ask "What was the situation?" ... "What map were you playing" ... etc etc. So don't make it seem like you're so l33t your "sh1t don't smell". I hate whiny brats like you - you bring this community down.
