"moddb"-conflicts between two members must be kept in private and will not be brought into the public community

-promoting one mod in another mods forum

-threatening posts & harassing posts

-Excessive spam (While this is admittedly not an officially stated rule, I find it hard to believe one cannot be punished for it. I stopped after the third page of the same message.)

Can you link to evidence of all three charges? I say three because the 4th one is, as you say, not a rule. Thus it could be considered spamming to waste my time with such irrelevance.
