Spoony can do know wrong I dunno wtf your talking about.

I use to do the same thing, flame the guys on these forums and the others for not playing clan games or call them n00bies in hopes one of them would challenge me just so I can prove I'm badass.

But then

A: I grew up and realized its so retarded flaming people online

B: I realized the only thing it does is make you and the rest of clanwars look stupid and immature.

Just shut up and leave the forum they don't want to play you, they don't care what you call them and they are much more mature then you are.

If you really feel like you have something to prove to the people on this forum then go join a public server and get mvp a few times... although no matter how many times you do it they honestly don't care, the thing no one who comes on different forums just to flame people and put people down forget is that its just a fucking game.
