

---

Subject: Re: LCD tv as computer screen... why not. ^^

Posted by Renx on Sun, 22 Jan 2006 15:51:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

yeah. The advantage of raid1 is obvious, but with raid0 it means both HDs are working together to put things on what looks to them like the same volume...So you get twice the speed.

For example with my old WD 5400rpm HDD, when loading windows the little blue bars moved across the screen 22 times before it would startup. Now they go across two times at most.

---