
Subject: Re: Banned for blacklisted game2 exe
Posted by Dr. Lithius on Sun, 29 Jan 2006 10:24:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Here's the thing. Despite all that you've said, hero, no one believes you. Convincing as your case might be(har har har), in all likelihood, you screwed up. But...let's go over a short list of what may or did happen. Shall we?:

Someone's using your CD-Key and that someone decided to use a RenGuard bypass.(Likelihood(0% to 100%): 20%)

"xslim420x" is on the e-mail you used to register "heromatt7" and you, or someone else, used that name with a RenGuard bypass.(Likelihood: 16%)

Someone found your registered primary Westwood Online account password and made "xslim420x" on said account, using it with a RenGuard bypass executable.(Likelihood: 17%)

You're lying and popped something into your Renegade Data folder that tried to mangle your game2.exe to bypass RenGuard on accident/purpose.(Likelihood: 57%)

You're lying about everything and simply cannot face up to your stupidity and pay the toll like a good little boy.(Likelihood: 79%)'course... This is just my opinion, mind you. Just that I've noticed a lot of people claim this-and-that when they just simply don't want to pay thirty bucks to play on RenGuard again. Why it matters, I don't know. You could always just play without RenGuard... But then again, you get a lot of goofy pop-ups and accusations when you do, on some servers. :x

Can you say "Monopoly"?! :D
