Always happens that the sound stutters for a half-second, then the whole thing reboots. The Microsoft site says my BIOS might be too out of date or something, though. Meanwhile, my techie friends say "That's bullshit." Dunno.

May sounds stupid. But this was just happening to mine. Check the CPU temperature by feeling it or downloading mother board monitor 5.

Who knows, maybe your CPU is Uber heating up and causing computer to reboot.
