Well Resonant Engineering is notorious for bad shipping. They ship a 40lb Subwoofer in a regular Cardboard box with 4 tiny foam squares which they think will keep it in place. The bottom of the box is a 1/2" Peice of Particle Board. You can see from the first two pictures the box is subwoofer shaped after being banged some lol...

EDIT: Not bad as in price wise or reliability wise, but just actual physical quality wise lol... They are optimistic about the boxes treatment by USPS...
