I s'pose so... I guess Adobe noticed a lot of Flash animators used Cool Edit Pro, and after some time, decided to grab both of those pieces of software for themselves. It seems greedy to me, but it's not like I know the first thing about big business. Other than "Don't make the customer feel unimportant."

And yes. "Hot Topic". I wasn't sure what sort of response this topic might generate, so I wasn't going to take any chances. A Moderator can move it wherever they feel like.
