Here's an idea...

Don't let them get close to your WF.

That's right. Don't lose the field. MLRS and Meds are the best thing for taking and keeping the field, and a pic or two from the tunnel can help a bunch. If Nod is in a situation where they have prolong control of the field and are pointwhoring your WF, you lost anyways.

You guys are good, right? Then you know. You lose the field, you lose the match. The exception is if the enemy wins by a narrow point victory because they keep defusing beacons or something.
