
Subject: Re: What are you gonna get? PS3 XBox360 Nintendo Revolution(NOT!)
Posted by Grim_Reaper_666 on Sun, 26 Mar 2006 11:54:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Sat, 25 March 2006 22:15My PC lit itself on fire (Made from all secondhand parts, but it ran Renegade so I'm no complaining), so I'll get a new one.

I've never been a console fan, but I gotta go with the revolution. I hear you can use N64 controllers with it, and the N64 had the best controllers EVER.

OMG! i was just holding my N64 thinking the exact same thing. I have always argued this. Well except when i was a lil kid at school as i had a ps an i thought it was the bomb an i would argue for it all the way like a dumbass.

Guess what happend when my mate invited me round to his to play it. After 2 days worth of playing i had to have 1 and i knew the controller was the best controller out. The only prob with the N64 controller was the analog would get a bit stiff over time. Otherwise its the most comfortable controller ive ever used.

And if u can use it on revolution then thats brilliant! Im gettin a revolution, but not till like 3 - 4 years time when i can pick it up dirt cheap second hand. I havent even got a gamecube yet.

"I'm not judging the controller by the amount of buttons, I'm judging it by how it would work and feel. It's the dumbest idea ever for a controller"

I couldn't disagree with you more. Whats wrong with how it would work... you use the remote controll part by movement, have u not read about read about how the revolution controller works? As for how it would feel.... i cant see how the feel of that would be a problem at all, ur left had is free to move, your right hand is free to move, the left part had the analog placed nicly under ur thumb, the controller part looks quite comfortable when u look at side shots, its kinda beefy unlike an actual remote for your tele.

Compare this to the 360 that i tried about a month or so back in gamestation. The controller was nothing special, rather orkward actualy with how low down the analog and direction part was to get my thumb on to. I mean i cant say for definate that the revolution wont feel uncomfortable but its hard to say if u havent tried it.

Also i agree that PC's are better than any consol, you can play online, u can get patches and updates, u can get trainers, you can get skins and MODS! and a keyboard and mouse is the ONLY way u can play a FPS, any1 who says otherwise is a moron.