

---

Subject: Re: Ever wonder what happened between SWIII and SWIV?

Posted by Anthrax on Fri, 31 Mar 2006 01:26:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

m1a1_abrams wrote on Sun, 19 March 2006 16:52 There is a guy on the net called "SuperShadow", who claims to be a friend of George Lucas and basically just makes up a load of crap about Star Wars. Any stuff you read about Episodes 7-9 probably came from him and isn't true. It's possible that Lucas will make more Star Wars films in the future, but I'm pretty sure he's stated there are no plans for a new trilogy.

Exactly.

He also claims to be a 'close friend of George Lucas, and that he inspired production on Episode III' while in reality, George Lucas publically announced he had no idea who Super Shadow is. He has never even met the bloke.

SS may dupe alot of the younger Star Wars members, but 99% of the community out there knows he is a fraud, and hate his guts for being a despicable liar.

---