I have played this game for quite long time and I have seen many people throw remote C4 much further than me while standing still. Now I wonder how are they doing this? I tried it, but I just don't know how to do it. If I sound like a noob, I will tell you this: I am sure that even after playing this game since beta, many people can still find new things that they did not know were possible.

Off topic: Yahoo, I am colonel now!
