I'm hoping low is a good thing.

Generally It's between 50 & 10, usually sitting at 30ish.

Is that a bad thing or a not bad thing?

FPS: high and stable is good. You have neather...

A stable 60 is perfect for fps. When it drops, you'll get lag.

Set the performance (in the options panel) lower to get an uglier looking game but with better performance.

Close all programs in the background, especially virus and spyware scanners, that might also help. Play on smaller serevrs: more player means a need for bigger performance by your computer. Post us your comp specs plz .
