Good. I hate cats. I managed to beat Mutant Raveshaw later, but who the heck can take 7 rockets to the face?

Also: More things I hate:

The glitch where I cannot use a PT without first throwing a timed c4 on myself (only way to keep your money).

People who mock me for doing this.

People who continually waste ammo on their own teammates.

People who spend the whole 30 minutes shooting their name on the BAR wall.

People who will die trying to repair a building, but ignore the beacon they're standing next to. (We lose so many refineries that way.)

People who spend the entire time complaining about lag. (Use !lagfix and move out.)

The credit lag when a harvester is dropping off Tiberium at ref (for 15 secs, you can't gain credits).

People who !forcerg me every time I kill them (I have Renguard, so it won't work, morons.)

VechEdit

People who repair sbh's in the field, marking their position for an easy kill.

People who complain because they die of "invisible mines" in the tunnels. (Heh. My signature strategy. Very hard not to die from.)

The startup noise for Renguard. Not that it's bad, just a little repetitive.

BTW, it can't be called nubjet if both sides use it in the same way. Either don't lose your Bar/HON to begin with, or don't complain when the enemy point-whores.
