Only thing I've noticed is a lot of irritation on my earlobe for the first month or two... then once my ears got adjusted to having something covering them for long periods at a time, the irritation went away.

I like my headphones.

You lose your hearing slowly over time doing that.

Sorry, did you say something? I couldn't hear anything you might have said. I'm glad I've got this closed-caption kind of thing right here!
