No No NO, you are wrong, Russia has some VERY SCARY MISSLES the R-7 Missle was produced during the Cold War, about 50 exist today, they have been in various places in Siberia, and I believe some in Ukraine, they have been and still are fueled and ready to go, each one of those missiles can either be armed with 10 1 kiloton warheads, or 5 5 kiloton war heads, OR 1 50 MEGATON WARHEAD thats hundreds of times more destructive that the bombs droped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki COMBINED. The missle has a range of 10,000 kilometers and each of those warheads can be delivered to almost any point on the Earth.
