Honestly, I think Renegade was more fun before all the stupid bullshit that most servers run was around. I enjoy Renegade in its pure form, and I don't think I should have to download CP2 just so your newbie-ass server's mod to make everyone in the tunnels stealth can work. Sorry.

I couldnt have said it better. I have been playing this game since the release and thats probably why I see it this why too.

like the game without modifications. I don't even use skins or reticles of any kind. (it's ok to use them for the change and to make a vehicle/character look nicer but some out there really give a advantage.) But the godcrate, stealth crate all that changing stuff. It just makes this game suck.

And yes I do stand open for new things. I have tried skins back in the days, I tried new maps/modifications.

But some people just like the game the way it is (true form)

I do play new maps. And then I notice that some maps are not really good for Renegade and some are. Therefore I think that new maps would be a nice add. If there was to be group to select the right maps. Because C&C Glacier (Bug wise) is worse then most fan maps out there and most servers don't have it in there rotation.

As for the loading time. If you have a 512MB ram this game will load in 1/3 sec. After the first map whichs loads slow. Most people now a days have 1024 some even more.. and with a 256MB it loading time is decent.
