forced map pack patch would be the best thing to happen to this game in a while.

Totally agree.

How about having a message when you logon offering players the chance to download a map pack ? It isn't something you would be forced to do. It would be ideal for those who do want the chance to play new maps and get the option when they logon Renegade to download them, like they do with the patch. For the rest who choose to play the same maps with no variation, and play them by choice, they get their wish too.

I'm not sure if that would be practical with Westwood's (somewhat limited) update system. Offering the maps in the form of an "update" would probably be the best way to ensure everyone gets them.
