i can see what Sir Phoneix wants, im not sure if thats possible though...

Skier22, i think you got the wrong end of the stick!!!

What he wants to do is when you click on the secondary fire button it changes what fire mode the primary fire button shoots, think of it as a cycle button.

so you would be shooting fragmented grenades and then you would press the secondary fire button and then the primary fire button would then shoot smoke grenades, and then he prees's the secondary fire button again and the primary fire button would change to Flash Bang grenades, and then you press the secondary fire button again and it would change the primary fire to the fragmented grenades again.

You see what he means now? The secondary fire button would be like a cycle button for the primary fire button.
