my renegade disk shatterd into 100 pieces (metaphorically speaking). i opend it up, emptied the pieces out, put it back together and works fine.

when you place a disk on the tray, the tray slides in and the disk is encased inside 2mm aluminium casing. i see no chance in hell that the disk can shoot out of the metal case (it was in mythbusters but they had to use a 15,000 rpm router for that).
