Uh, excuse me, but I didn't get ripped off, my mom even covered the extra cost of the X800XT she bought locally (to save herself the trouble, after the case incident) instead of buying online.

The only time I got ripped off was when I bought the case, it was a piece of shit copy of the original version and it's falling apart, but the power supply it came with is surprisingly good.

(the inner design isn't the same, it's flimsy as hell, the paint job sucks and the manufacturers are aware of the issue, as a matter of fact, most manufacturers are I'm never buying such thing from Ebay again)
