yea, if the Havoc runs out first the hottie will get fried, I like the idea, but as already said it's just a slight twist on an already well known tactic.

Other options include sending a free unit to take the hit (and die) or if you are on Field, running straight in to the refinery with a 1000 point char and a nuke (this can be done solo)

Just remember that the Obelisk has an AOE attack so if you are too close you will both get fried.
