
Subject: Re: Town destroyed by "killdozer"

Posted by Mortus Est on Tue, 06 Jun 2006 22:04:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Zero casualties besides the driver's suicide but killdozer because the media wanted a snappy name....

Meh, read about it about a year or so ago.

But really theres nothing thats you can stick in a bulldozers path that it can't push away. That one was essentially a tank and anti-tank defences are sodding great chunks of spiked concrete and concrete ditches which ain't gonna move.

That bit about him having rifles inside to shoot out with is bullshit. He only had one pistol in there with him and the only thing he had it for was to kill himself when he was stopped.

I like what he did, if only for the morally justified revenge against a bunch of bastards and a bit more evidence that american police are trigger happy maniacs. Apparantly one got onto it to fire down at the roof and didn't seem to get the idea that his bullets were doing nothing more than increasing the armour plating...
