We can take turns and lay em all out...

Let's play name that resignation.

Short of burned out press secretaries, name the just regular resignations from a political stand point.

I'll start ya...

Greenspan.

I bet I can name 9 to 1, more people pushed out of the White House in the last 25 years than you can name that simply wanted to go on...and again, that doesn't include press secretaries, they never last good or bad...
