
Subject: Re: DEATH TO IRAN

Posted by Homey on Wed, 14 Jun 2006 20:28:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

j_ball430 wrote on Wed, 14 June 2006 13:22 thrash300 wrote on Wed, 10 May 2006 17:52 You don't need money to launch a missile that has been readied to fire, all you do is press a button (well you do more than that like get the authorization, but you get the idea), by the way Russia has many ways of delivering nukes to their targets, like submarine launched nukes, HEY they might just happen to sneak in a few IBMs to Cuba and launch them at America, If America happens to be the target.

President: NUKE RUSSA. KGO!

Commander: LOLK. PRES BUTAN!!

Soldier: LoL! K!!

I'm sure we all know that's how it works...

Obviously that's how it's done. The soldier is also FPS Doug and would scream boom headshot. Thrash are you getting all this information? It's some serious shit and you gotta know about that big red button. You can even hack into the military and do it yourself!
