Subject: Re: ZOMG VIRUS HELPZORZ!!!
Posted by sterps on Fri, 16 Jun 2006 08:31:05 GMT

Since i have my computer partitioned (win98 & xp pro), If anything like this happens to me, i simply boot up in the other OS and delete the troublesome files.
But in your case, i would delete the file through dos, through booting up at the start. That is if you are dos literate?

You may also want to try networking with a protected computer and virus scanning through the network. Ive done that with my friends computers, worked well.