Posted by krayons on Sun, 02 Jul 2006 00:19:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yup, I did it in macromedia flash, and I used the rotoscope technique(unfortunatley it only gets the basic figure, you have to add the rest of the detail yourself.), afterwards I took it into image ready to optimize it. it's a pretty neat effect though, i'm surprised you were able to figure that out you've got a good eye for animation.

I don't prefer to use it alot, but this seemed like a good time to implement it.

I didn't know the Ah-ha video was done that way, dang!

(I goofed up, as you can see the white lines around the pic.)
-.-

And by the way, I didn't use mspaint in the drawing, but it Kicks asprin!, I prefer it over photoshop in some instances.

Now.... What should I doodle next!?