I'm not an expert on this, but it might have to do with how you cool your computer.

If that really is the problem, make sure...

- 1) You keep that screen covering the fan clean (assuming you use a fan).
- 2.) Your computer isn't in a tightly closed area blocking airflow in/out of the computer.
- 3) You aren't leaving it on for more than 10 hours at a time.

I doubt any of this was news, but whatever.

PS: Hardware in a PC naturally heats up a bit, but I don't think it would be hot enough to burn your hand.
