I stand corrected.

By "power abuse" i was referring to the fact, that someone is erasing people's opinions without explanation. And for some interesting reason, in this particular thread, Goztow's and N1warhead's posts were erased, while Aircraftkiller's post was erased after i posted my concerns. Why is that?

As you said, power abuse is an issue.

Quote:...if someone would propose a full solution to "clean up" these forums, I am ALWAYS all ears...

My posts in this thread aren't a full solution, but a note. Aircraftkiller has been spamming the boards and attacking it's members ever since Westwood passed the community on you. How come no action is taken against that? I am sure that if i (or any other member in that matter) start doing the same, I'll get banned in less than a day.

Don't get me wrong, i have nothing personal against you, nor am i supporting null's idea to leave from a few weeks ago. Ever since that discussion on the Webbies forum about the Renegade Community happened, you became a greatly respected person in my eyes.

I've been around the C&C Community for some time, I've seen people come and go, i used to be a moderator at a few (now dead unfortunately) community sites back in the RA2 days. If you need a helping hand with moderation, i am willing to commit most of my free time to the Renegade Community.

If i am not trusted, just say what can i do to earn your trust.
