Posting this a little late but.

Well let me explain a few things to clear this up.

I really do take alot out of proportion alot and am sorry, this is due to stress, depression, medication, irritation, and excesiveness in my thoughts. With my condition this is unfortunatly uncontrollable.

As for this post....

I was really not meaning to take it out of proportion or take it to far but I did, however this post was not one of my usual crazy out of proportion outbursts.

This was actually my thought going on in my head at the time exactly as posted, and I had no intention of posting at all. Now I did have intensions to flame, but only in my head. It accedently came out into the thread and at the time I was thinking it wouldn't harm much and it was in a mild, joking manor. I was really wrong, messed up and posted it. I added the part at the end because even though I was thinking it was a mild, joking, and harmless partly humorous(only to myself) mini-flame post I thought it was a little 'intense' so I added the no offense part.

Sorry but that's how it happened. Don't hang me for it please, it was an accedent.
